Alien Abduction Insurance?

Don't let close encounters with the third kind cost you a pretty penny.

Did you know that some insurance firms offer alien abduction insurance policies? It's mainly an inside joke within the industry, but one European firm has sold over 30,000 policies covering the pain and suffering resulting from an impromptu joyride with extra-terrestrials.

Providing proof is a must to cash in on an alien abduction claim. Pack a lunch because it's a doozy. Proclaimers of alien kidnap must not only provide a detailed description of the event, the type of aliens, and their spacecraft, they must also include a third-party witness statement, video footage of the abduction, a signature of an "authorized, on-board alien," AND pass a lie detector test. Is a successful claim worth all that? Only abductees can decide.

While we can't promise you an alien abduction-free life, we do offer family protection insurance in the event you run into trouble with a human who doesn't have the best intentions.
